FY 2026 Budget Assumption Analysis – South Central Regional Medical Center

Summary

This document summarizes the key assumptions underlying the FY-2026 operating budget for South Central Regional Medical Center. Moderate increases in volumes and revenues coupled with expense management initiatives are the basis of success in FY2026 and should drive a $2.23 million net income.

Revenue Assumptions

- Inpatient revenue is budgeted as $153.6 million, representing 1% increase compared to FY-2025 projected, consistent with expectations of growth in inpatient days from the opening of first west wing and additional transfers in from cooperative facilities. Also included is improved management of length of stay that would result in a moderate decline in days.
- Outpatient revenue is budgeted as $474.3 million, a 2.7 % increase. Growth drivers include continued industry-wide trend of volume shifts from inpatient to outpatient services coupled with existing clinic expansion and growth, enhanced gastroenterology service line, and addition of new primary care providers. All expected to contribute to greater referrals to facility outpatient services such as lab, radiology, surgery, and cancer-center infusions.
- Due to the inconsistent funding decisions and current political climate, publicly funded supplemental payment program dollars (MHAP, QIPP and nursing-home UPL) have been budgeted conservatively. Additionally, while we have experienced some success in obtaining grant funding these dollars like supplemental funding dollars are not always guaranteed. While $5.5 million have been applied for collectively from HRSA, the Dream program and graduate-medical-education (GME) program the budget includes $1.5 million impact, again maintaining a conservative view.

• Contractual allowances in terms of total dollars have increased to reflect projected volume growth. Overall the Net Patient Revenue percentage is expected to remain flat to 10ths of a percentage increases from increases negotiated on commercial contracts.

Net Patient Revenue

• Net patient revenue is projected to total $257 million, a 3% increase.

Expense Assumptions

- Salaries and wages are expected to increase 2%, reflecting operational expansions (new service lines and clinics) as well wage increases across departments experiencing critical recruitment and retention issues.
- Given existing trend in escalating health care benefit exposure across the country as well as to SCRMC, employee benefits have been budgeted to increase 3%.
- Professional Services expenses are expected to increase by about 2% as the full-year impact of contract costs begun in mid FY2025 for wound care and radiology are realized throughout FY2026. Additionally, while the exposure from rate increases has been minimized as much as possible increases were incorporated across general service vendor contracts.

- Medical supplies are budgeted 3% higher, reflecting volume growth; cost-saving purchasing initiatives help limit further increases.
- Equipment rentals and maintenance/repairs rise significantly, reflecting both new leased equipment and the higher maintenance requirements of aging fixed assets.
- Utilities and office supplies are expected to remain flat.
- Outside services decline slightly due to vendor changes in patient accounts and clinic support.
- Insurance, taxes and dues increase due to new property acquisitions and higher insurance premiums.
- Total expenses grew approximately 1.8 % to $268.5 million, highlighting tight cost control.

Non-operating Income

• The overall surplus gained in FY26 depends on achieving=vg growth through service expansion and physician recruiting, improving cost minimization initiatives and realizing various non-operating gains from supplemental programs payments and new grant opportunities.

Risks and Considerations

- Primary risk moving into FY2026 is the implementation of EPIC its cost structures and cash required for the up-start. These costs couple with the CERNER drain out costs associated with continued patient account collections and data interface needs with increase the overall cost structure.
- Outpatient volumes drive revenue; slower growth in key service lines could reduce income.
- MHAP, QIPP and UPL funding is subject to political and policy changes, thus their realization in total or in part is always in question.
- Labor market pressures and inflation could erode margins despite planned cost controls.
- Aging equipment may necessitate additional repairs or replacement beyond budgeted amounts.
- Non-operating income, including grants, may vary from expectations.

Conclusion

The FY-2026 budget reflects conservative revenue assumptions for uncertain state supplemental programs while pursuing volume-driven growth across both the in and out patient departments. Expense projections rely on modest salary increases and cost-saving measures such as vendor renegotiations and procurement efficiencies.
